> How will groups and societies learn about the Alcohol Policy?
When any policy, new or updated, is introduced to the Dalhousie community there is an implementation plan and process. This process includes consulting with and educating stakeholders. The Alcohol Policy Implementation Plan includes meeting with the DSU Executive and Council, DASA, student athletes (Varsity, Tier 1 and Tier 2), Deans Council, Faculty Council, and DPMG Executive. The plan also includes other channels for the larger Dalhousie community.

The DSU also requires a representative for each ratified society to participate in Primary Event Organizer training, follow the DSU Risk Management Society Responsibilities, and every event with alcohol service requires approval (details above).

If you would like to request a member of the Alcohol Advisory Committee come and talk to your group about the policy you can contact the Assistant Vice-Provost, Student Affairs by emailing Verity.Turpin@dal.ca.

> What else is Dalhousie doing to reduce the harms of alcohol?
Dalhousie is implementing the Postsecondary Education Partnership - Alcohol Harms (PEP-AH) framework that can be found online at dal.ca/studentaffairs. This framework addresses high-risk drinking and alcohol harm reduction, addressing five key areas: health promotion, prevention & education, campus services, availability & marketing, pricing, and community action.

In September, Dalhousie also piloted a dry-residence initiative during 2017 Orientation Week. The pilot was focused around student safety and aimed to reduce alcohol harms on campus. An evaluation of the pilot proved it to be successful; there was a decrease in alcohol-related incidents on campus and no increase in alcohol-related incidents off campus compared to previous years.
Is there a parallel policy in development for marijuana, or will marijuana be addressed in the new Alcohol Policy?
Dalhousie University has not yet established a policy around the consumption of medical marijuana on campus, but will mirror the Nova Scotia provincial policy if it is legalized.

Currently, our doctors and physicians at the Student Health & Wellness do not prescribe medical marijuana. This is due to varying medical opinions, and evidence of the effectiveness of medical marijuana for various conditions. The College Institute of Physicians and Surgeons does not recommend or support the prescription of medical marijuana for individuals under the age of 25 (http://www.cpso.on.ca/policies-publications/policy/marijuana-for-medical-purposes)

Can other businesses in Halifax, such as bars and clubs, buy program or guide advertisements or sponsor our events?
External businesses can buy advertisements in Dalhousie’s programs and guides or provide sponsorship as long as they follow the advertising rules and regulations within the Policy. As per the Policy, advertisements can promote aspects such as music and dancing, but cannot promote the selling and distribution of alcohol, which includes advertising the price of alcoholic beverages or using alcohol branding or logos on promotional materials outside of our licensed establishments.
